

“Women's Transnational Democratic Platform’s message to the World Women Conference in Tunisia”

We are sending our warmest revolutionary salute to you all who are holding high the flag of the unity and common action based on common principles

We, women are slave of the slaves, therefor woman's freedom is the only factor can bring freedom for the society as a whole.

The so-called modern and contemporary societies are living in a fever of challenges and contradiction. The system of money and capital does not spare any killings and crimes in order to keep the power in its hands, and it has no boon for the inhabitants of the earth, especially women, nothing but killing, war, looting and destruction.

Revolutionary comrades, your conference is being held at a time when the ominous shadow of war for energy and the resulting economic crisis, the effects of looting and destruction of nature are becoming more and more dim in the current time. People are more and more busy reflecting on the military intervention of Russia in Ukraine. And they are unaware of the possible dangers of world war and atomic winter is behind this military show that has been revealed in the past six months, but regardless of the usual extravagance and their desire for more and more power, the intention to change the system that governs the world is evident.

A change that already speaks of an extremely difficult time for women, for instance change of the abortion law in the United States, the proposal to cancel the equal rights of men and women in one of the Scandinavian countries. Use of female politicians as an instrument in signing anti-democratic contracts in the past few months, including Sweden's Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs meeting with the Middle East dictator, Recep Erdogan in Madrid and Nancy Polsey's trip to Taiwan to create diplomatic tensions. These and hundreds of other examples of news indicate that the world of capital feels threatened by the awakening of women and it is trying to suppress women's democratic movements with all available tools.

The basis of inequality and discrimination in all the fields, including against women, is rooted in the benefit of a small minority. But this general and historical discussion today has taken root in many different aspects and layers of our society. Inequality and discrimination against women has become a general behavior, that even large groups of women accepted the same belief who easily can tolerant discrimination towards themselves and their peers.

Of course, it is very clear that without challenging the obstacles of structural changes, such as patriarchy, capitalism, and authoritarianism, no struggle against this anti-woman system will achieve a favorable result.

The 21st century began with the awakening of women all over the world, we have seen the loud voices of women who are tired of discrimination in so many countries around the world as the leaders on the streets as well as union struggles, not to forget women's armed-struggle in the heart of the Middle East, which constantly is facing terrible repression. But fortunately, thanks to the equalitarian and freedom-loving women and men, not only these struggles have not disappeared, but their reputation has been heard more and more every day, and has shaken the body of the system which is against our nature and against women.

Dear fellow comrades, Women's Transnational Democratic Platform warmly shakes your hands, and declares its support for your struggles for freedom, and at the same time, in order to advance our goals, we expect more unity and cooperation with you comrades who are fighting for a long time internationally, your precious experiences has played a valuable role, for promoting struggles to build a better world. Because only together and with the common denominator of being a woman, we can overcome stereotypes and obstacles including racial, religious, ideological and even geographical differences.

With hope that the tree of our dreams will grow tall!
Resistance is life!
